

The Dreamcatchers

These woven threads of light that gleam
Infusions heal the vital stream
Collecting broken cells that spin
Returning when they're well again

You are the light, the force that heals
The maker of uncommon weals
To catch all dreams that will transcend
The web of ills so life can mend.

C 2026 by Carol Anthony