To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to wholeheartedly recommend Reeva Ohri, who I had the pleasure of working with at Brightwing. As a Recruiter our two teams worked closely with each other during her time on the Marketing team and I also had the opportunity to serve as her mentor. Throughout our time working together, she consistently demonstrated professionalism, curiosity, and a strong commitment to growth.

Reeva was a reliable and thoughtful member of the Marketing team who brought a positive attitude and strong communication skills to her work. She was consistently looking for ways to improve and add value.

I truly enjoyed mentoring and working with Reeva, and I'm confident she'll be a great addition to any team. Her layoff was purely situational and not a reflection of her abilities or performance. I would gladly work with her again and highly recommend her for future opportunities.

Please feel free to reach out if you'd like any additional information.

Best regards,

