* It is important to know that if the price of your staked crypto drops at a higher percentage than the rate you are earning, you could end the staking period with more crypto but a lower or higher net value compared to euros or other currencies.

Stop working to grow your crypto. Start making your crypto work for you.

Passive income that helps your crypto grow on its own.

By staking your crypto directly on the blockchain, you're helping to build a stronger, more stable network. In return, you can earn rewards with very competitive annual returns.

Earn rewards on your rewards

Begin with a low minimum investment, which we spread across all the coins in the portfolio.

Protect your portfolio from fraud.

If a network has downtime or a validator tries to game the system, Kriptomat's slashing insurance protects your stake from any financial losses.

KriptoEarn FAQs

What is staking?

Staking is the process of transferring your cryptocurrency temporarily to a separate wallet to support a blockchain's security and transaction verification processes. It sounds complicated – and it can be! – but at Kriptomat we handle all the details on your behalf. In return, you earn rewards in the form of additional cryptocurrency. It's like earning interest on a savings account.

Staking not only provides a great way to earn rewards, but also helps promote a more decentralized and secure blockchain ecosystem. By participating in staking, you can help support your favorite blockchain network and earn rewards while doing so.
