MISS SAIGON AND BANANA TREE GIVEAWAY

When Cameron Mackintosh's hit musical Miss Saigon was first in the West End 25 years ago, the war that inspired the story was still fresh in the minds of many of its audience. Now, its return to the London stage after a 15-year absence means young theatregoers more familiar with Vietnam as a gap year stop-off are learning why it's broken box office records all over the world. The tragic tale of orphaned bar girl Kim who falls in love with American GI Chris, Miss Saigon has had more than 35 million people in 300 cities reaching for the Kleenex, picking up a record nine WhatsOnStage awards in the process. No wonder it was one of the year's most hotly-anticipated productions. If you didn't get to enjoy it the first time around, we're giving you the chance to win a pair of tickets to this acclaimed production at the Prince Edward Theatre, plus a pre-theatre dinner around the corner at Banana Tree, where the lucky pair can get warmed up over an authentic Indochinese feast.

HOUSEKEEP GIVEAWAY

Spring has most definitely sprung and we couldn't be happier. (Was it just us or did winter seem of Game-of-Thrones-esque proportions?) But all that glorious light doesn't half show up the dust on our sideboards! If you'd rather be out frolicking in the daffodils than reaching for the Mr Sheen, leave the spring clean to the lovely people at Housekeep. Their award-winning home cleaning service leaves London homes spotless, and the secure keyholding service means you can arrive home from work to a sparkling clean home. Is there any better feeling? This month one lucky Fabric reader will have the pleasure of someone else doing their dirty work for an entire month – all you have to do is possess a vacuum, mop and bucket (if you don't, then what kind of filthy den are you keeping?) and Housekeep's dust-busting staff will do the rest. Ten runners up will also get an hour of free cleaning – not too shabby. Or, at least, it won't be.

BOOMBOOM ATHLETICA OFFER

There comes a time when you have to admit that a baggy T-shirt and saggy jogging bottoms do not constitute sportswear. You're a grown up, get a grip – it's time to invest in some proper gear. That's where the motivationally titled BoomBoom Athletica comes in. Created by ultra-marathon runner Ann Johansson, the range has been designed to actually help you work out better – and we need all the help we can get. Compression fabrics keep the oxygen flowing to the muscles during and after your workout, and detailing like mesh panels for breathability means you can focus on your workout rather than whether or not that hot trainer has noticed your sweat patches. Oh, and sick of having to choose between style and functionality, Ann made sure her range is super-stylish too – and looking the part surely means you're halfway there. If you're suitably shamed into ditching those leggings and that 15-year-old Fruit of the Loom tee, you can get 20 per cent off the full range all month by entering FABRIC20 at the online checkout.
