Aries

With the solar eclipse in Virgo, you'll be prioritizing your health and getting back into a regular routine after the craziness of summer. When Libra season begins, make sure to set aside some time to spend with your close friends, family, and significant other. Schedule a bestie coffee date, or plan a fun date night to try a new activity or restaurant. The full moon in your sign will have you mulling over your personal goals, making it a great time to think about what you want to accomplish the rest of the year. In November, your focus will shift to your finances, and you could get an unexpected raise or returns on investments. Finally, get your passport ready because Sagittarius season brings you the opportunity to travel.

Taurus

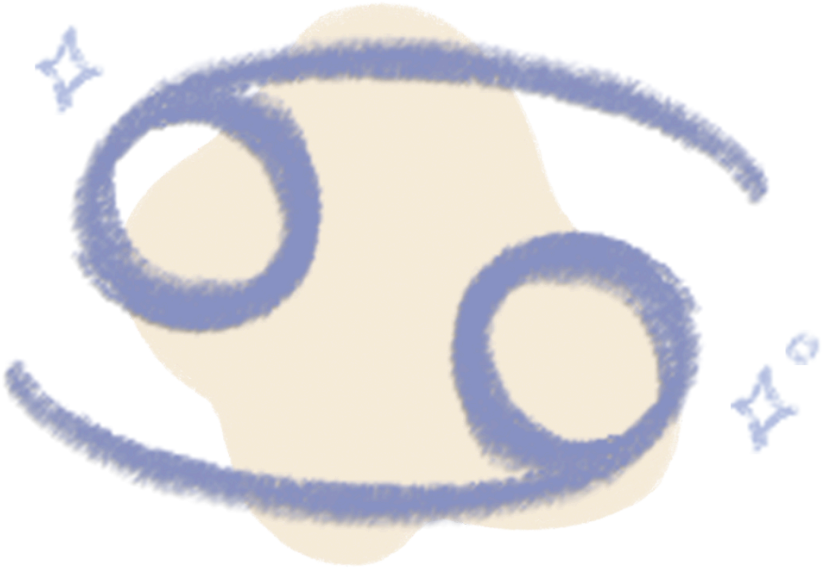

The solar eclipse on September 21 will shine the spotlight on your dating life, whether you're single, in a relationship, or figuring out a situationship. October's themes will be more focused on practical issues, though, like doing administrative tasks at work or getting your life organized. Then the relationship vibes continue during Scorpio season, which will give you the chance to spend some one-on-one time with your partner or the person you're dating. Sagittarius season will also bring money to the forefront. Now's the time to ask for the raise you've been hoping for or to try investing some of your paycheck.

Gemini

Libra season is all about your inner child, Gemini, and you're good at tapping into that energy. Dive into one (or a few) of your many hobbies, or get creative with a craft. This is a romantic season for you, too. You could see more action than usual on your dating apps, or you might want to connect with your significant other more. Scorpio season brings you back to reality a bit, as it's more focused on your everyday routine. Take the opportunity to deep-clean your home or empty out your closets. You might want to consider testing out new recipes instead of ordering in all the time or trying a new workout class to get back in the habit of exercising.

Cancer

Fall is all about home for Cancers. You might suddenly decide to redecorate your home during Libra season, or you could be thinking of moving. Browse listings to get an idea of what's out there—you never know when you'll find your dream house or apartment. Scorpio season brings time for romance, so redownload those dating apps, give the guy who asked you out on the street a chance, or prioritize time with your partner. It's also a good time to try out some creative hobbies. Unfortunately, Sagittarius season won't be quite as fun; December will be more focused on day-to-day tasks, like catching up on errands and laundry.

Leo

You'll be feeling extra chit-chatty during Libra season, Leo. Communication projects at work or school, such as reports or presentations, might feel super easy to you right now. You could also be getting the travel bug, so look into short weekend or day trips you can take, or start planning a longer vacation for later in the year. On the flip side, Scorpio season will have you feeling like more of a homebody. Use this time to organize and declutter or even move around furniture if you've grown tired of your current arrangement. You'll be feeling the fun vibes during Sagittarius season, which will highlight romance and creativity—two things a Leo loves.

Virgo

Fall is a big season for you, Virgo, as there's a solar eclipse in your sign and Mercury retrograde (as your planetary ruler, Mercury going retrograde has a bigger effect on you). Think of this eclipse as a new beginning. If you've been itching to make a change in some area of your life, now's the perfect time. Don't worry if it seems like your plans aren't coming to fruition, though; Mercury retrograde can slow things down. You're usually good with words, but with the retrograde happening during Scorpio season, you might have some difficulty getting your point across. Don't get anxious over it, and instead, try to make sure you're being extra clear.

Libra

With the Virgo eclipse, you might take up an interest in spirituality or topics like astrology and tarot. You may also want to reconsider how much time you spend with others and think about carving out some alone time to reset. Your season will bring you lots of attention, and you'll likely have lots of plans with friends, making it a great chance for you to practice balancing relaxation time with socializing. Scorpio season could test your budget and have you wanting to spend more than usual, so try to avoid unnecessary purchases. When Sag season arrives, you'll be in your element again with more time to hang out with friends.

Scorpio

Your personal fresh start begins on October 22 when the sun moves into your sign, so use the energy of Libra season to reflect on how you want the upcoming year to go. During Scorpio season, start putting those plans and goals into action. Definitely take some time to pamper yourself during your season, too. Book a massage or get a day pass to a spa. You'll want to rein in the spending when Sagittarius season starts, though, so lay out a budget for yourself to keep track of your finances. This is also a good opportunity to look into ways to earn some additional income or to study up on new skills for your job.

Sagittarius

The Virgo eclipse on September 21 will bring some shakeups at work. Start looking for new jobs around this time if you feel like you've outgrown your current role. Then, Libra season is your time to shine as a social butterfly, Sagittarius. Gather all your friends for a dinner party, or make plans to catch up with friends you haven't seen in a while. This season may bring networking opportunities, too. You might feel a little more introverted during Scorpio season, but the start of your season on November 21 will get you out of that funk. You'll be in demand during Sag season, so try to make a schedule to keep track of all your events so you won't miss anything.

Capricorn

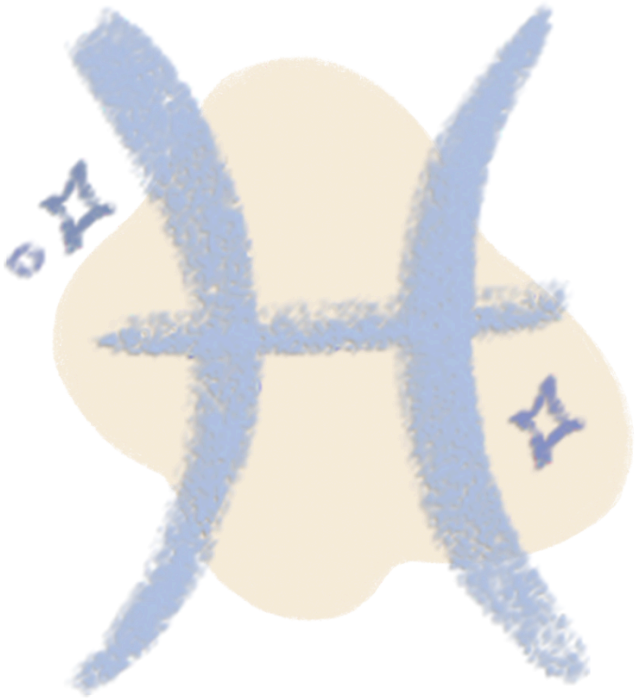

You'll be prioritizing your career during Libra season, Capricorn. You could be considering a career pivot, or you might be on the hunt for a new job. This could also be a particularly busy time of year at work, so get ready to lock in. If you're starting to get a little burnt out, Scorpio season will come to the rescue. You'll have more opportunities to hang out with friends during this time, so definitely take advantage of that after your work-focused Libra season. This is also an ideal time to do some networking to help you out with any career changes. December is more about resting and protecting your mental energy. Don't be afraid to turn off your email notifications or say no to plans.

Aquarius

As an intellectual Aquarius, you always love learning new things, but you'll be especially interested in it during Libra season. Browse your local bookstore for some nonfiction reads (or try another genre you don't typically go for) or look into online classes to take. When Scorpio season begins, work will be on your mind. Keep an eye out for the perfect job opportunity if you've been thinking about changing companies. Now's a great time to start gathering all your achievements to make your case for a promotion, too. December will allow you to connect with friends, and you may feel the urge to expand your social circle. Consider volunteering for a cause you care about or joining a sports league.

Pisces

Your relationships will be under the microscope during the Virgo eclipse in September. If you're in a relationship or dating someone, you could be taking the next step, like making it official or moving in together. Single gals, you may meet someone around this time. But if your relationship has been rocky, this could give you the push you need to end it. During Scorpio season, gather your friends or family to make plans for a big trip—it's a good time to travel or to book a much-needed vacation. You could also be extra interested in reading and learning during this season. Sagittarius season will shift your focus to your career, though, so be prepared for some busy times at work.
