About Stock Plan Brokerage Account
The Morgan Stanley Stock Plan Brokerage Account is a self-directed online brokerage account for U.S. residents where trading and other account activities are undertaken at the client's sole discretion without access to a Financial Advisor. This account is only available to employee participants of equity compensation plans serviced by Morgan Stanley. There are no minimum balance requirements or account maintenance fees associated with the account, and a client's interaction with Morgan Stanley will be primarily through electronic communications and online resources. Please consider opening a full-service brokerage account if you would prefer to receive the investment guidance and assistance of a Financial Advisor.
