

Supply Chain Management Services

Tech Data — The Strongest Link in Your Supply Chain

You know Tech Data as a technology distribution company providing plentiful supply of the world's leading products with the best delivery at a fair price. Now, whether you distribute products through us or not, trust Tech Data's supply chain management services to provide you with powerful alternatives for handling your entire supply chain, allowing you to deploy your own resources elsewhere in your enterprise. Our supply chain services are performed under a "private-label" model so we maintain your brand to your channel and end-customers.

Fulfillment Services

Tech Data offers a complete range of outsourced fulfillment services that can be quickly integrated into your existing operations, increasing efficiency, lowering cost, and allowing you to scale more readily as your business grows.

Inventory Management

We can manage collaborative planning, forecasting, and replenishment (CPFR) processes that enhance end-to-end supply chain integration by supporting and assisting joint practices involving you, Tech Data, and our global partners to optimize supply while minimizing costs.

Financial Services

From risk assessment to clearinghouse services, Tech Data identifies funding sources based on asset leverage, Tech Data credit, or end-customer credit. We can also provide billing, accounts receivable and payables services to help smooth the path.

Pricing & Promotions

Strategic pricing motions and promotions are an important part of managing the lifecycle of any product. Tech Data helps OEMs manage the pricing waterfall from new product introduction to end-of-life.

Pre- and Post-Sales

Our specialists provide all of the order fulfillment, claims management, credit and returns, price protection and other services to make it as easy as possible for end-user customers to obtain your products.

Third-Party Logistics (3PL) Services

Companies that cannot or do not wish to perform logistic services find it easiest to turn to Tech Data to do it for them. With infrastructure built to handle massive worldwide distribution, and unmatched global resources, Tech Data is your best choice to manage the complete supply chain – from sourcing to warehousing to transportation, and more.

Warehousing & Distribution

Tech Data provides secure warehousing of your products at fulfillment centers located around the world. We provide all the inventory and transport control with such value-added services as reworks, updates, and more.

Order Management

Tech Data is an expert at order intake with comprehensive validation and optimization processes. Our specialists manage allocations, expedites, troubleshooting and more.

Transportation Management

Our transportation network is carrier-neutral, allowing us to provide economical routing, giving you consolidated invoicing and visibility into our rigorous performance metrics.

eCommerce

Tech Data manages everything from the front-end interface to the back-end API into our logistics. Full reporting provides complete visibility and helps forecast future requirements.

Your Customized Logistics & Fulfillment Resource

Whichever logistics model you prefer, Tech Data customizes your program specifically to your needs. We can become as much or as little an extension of your operations as you need. Our operational economies of scale translate into consistent, reliable services with significant cost reduction.

You succeed by creating and manufacturing extraordinary products. Tech Data has proven for decades that we succeed by helping you succeed. We make every link of your supply chain as strong as possible so products flow seamlessly to customers. Tech Data delivers the agility and flexibility you need so you can focus on the road ahead.

To learn more, visit www.servicesbytechdata.com.