

Character Bios - 'Crazy Taxi Gazillionaire'

Cord	Cord doesn't get wrapped up in new gadgets. If the original works for her, as tech should, it's blessed with a long life.
Samantha	Leaping straight from bed to car, Samantha owns bright-eyed and bushy-tailed. Coffee makes her squirrely.
Stella and Snout	Stella's whole hog on veggies, but adds pink to her diet in other ways. Met Snout through a ham radio club.
Stephenson	Stephenson's forever lost in his Occlusion VR. Has a healthy perspective on reality regardless.
Gretchen	Gretchen tends to dress people down for pomp and circumstance, but can't resist dressing up for a job she loves.
Lark	Lark's fishy style proves he's a spur-of-the-moment kind of guy. Has a pair of riding boots for every day of the week.
Berry	A sweetheart behind the beard, Berry tends a tough bar when he's not hurtling through town. A fan of coasters either way.
Tracy	Usually on her way to the next big comic con. Do not ever mention 'Love, Actually' or 'Well, actually' in the cab.
Seela	Seela's the practical hero you need in a zombie apocalypse. Lacks only the circular logic needed to navigate roundabouts.
Bilal	An '80s movie buff born 10 years late, Bilal thinks John Cusack is a national treasure. Also hates every National Treasure.
Gustav	Gustav ditched a tiny hometown to be the city's biggest attraction. Plans to crush his arch rival, the Arc de Triomphe.
Boom	A driving sage beyond her age, tranquility runs through this gal's veins. Notorious fighting game rage-quitter, though.

MC XXXX	Doesn't need the income from cabbage, save for your feedback on his rambunctious rap masterpiece in progress.
---------	---

King	If military convoys didn't bother him in duty, your puny urban traffic won't be a match for candy-loving King.
Pickles	Pickles fights to preserve music in physical form, making him a bona fide record holder in holding records.
Gus (Small Apple)	Amateur inventor and the only surviving member of Canada's celebrated emo-polite band, Poutine Scream.
Mara	She's the rowdy one coming 'round the roller rink. Rumor has it she drove a cab onto Daytona.
Pixie	Pixie wields makeup like a loudspeaker. She's colored herself impressed, blown away and sienna plaid.
Huck	Huck hugs trees so he can stab them in the back and turn them into fine acoustic guitars.

Darla	Darla pioneered an uneasy but melodious blend of punk and country with her minor hit, 'Spurs of Oppression'
Victor	Victor tries to be more anti-establishment but struggles to establish a precedent for it.
Kina	Once accused of being Banksy by a fleeing Banksy, Kina is effortlessly stylish. It's annoying, honestly.
Bernard	Bernard proposed to Rose at a NOFX concert. Her first answer, WHAT, became a firm yes in retrospect.
Rose	Rose and her hubby, Bernard, go together like music and lyrics, and neither can refrain from the other.

Axel	Axel always jokes he was born in a cab, but there's something weird about his delivery.
BD Joe	Joe's playlist in the cab sounds perfected by an algorithm, but it's actually this thing called taste.
Gena	Gena can't help but fall in love with coastal freeways, unless there's a huge turnoff.
Gus	Inventor of the briefly infamous 'swiss' umbrella. Styled after the cheese, it just didn't hold up in the rain.
Ms Venus	Gets directions from her heart first, then the GPS. She's never been lost for a second.
Zax	Zax prefers cabs after a tedious session of rowing, running and stepping got him nowhere at the gym.
Bixbite	Outside of the cab, he toils on still life paintings of the more rebellious fruits, like pineapples.
Hot D	Hot D can't get over the classics: forgotten punk anthems, black and white films, yesterday's fries.
Cinnamon	This burning star of optimism only gets glum when her parents need tech support over the phone.
Slash	Slash considers every possibility before a commitment, much to the chagrin of his impatient tattoo artist.
Iceman	Iceman mourns the loss of hand-written communication, which you can read about in his weekly email newsletter.
Angel	You can hear the rattle of skateboards and rollerblades in the back of the cab, but Angel keeps some good books back there too.
Sprinkles	Only one person has ever tried to define Sprinkles and they failed. That person is Sprinkles.
Melt	Melt's love of coloring books as a child hasn't stopped the draw of living outside the lines of personal style.
Click	Click's photography is unconventional and unapologetic. The only time she skips the filter is when speaking her mind.

Eelo	CEO of auto-taxi giant Caburnet, Eelo Veneer loved sci-fi novels about prosperous societies. Forgets 'dystopia' is the bad one.
Skipper	An activist hacker who lost his sea drive, Skipper has constant flashbacks to the good ol' days of piracy and massive nets.
Nane	You see a man in a bespoke suit, Nane sees a prisoner of fashion who got measured by the warden first.
Flex	Flex is forgiving, compassionate and gets annoyed only when you don't ask before touching his pet, Peeves.
Whisper	With Whisper's luck, no risk or dicey maneuver is off-limits. Usually the first to perish in Dungeons and Dragons, however.
Slater	Slater wants the skateboard to be today's dominant form of transportation, but for now that's a half-pipe dream.
Jam	Never removes his headphones for fear of interrupting The Ramones or hearing what happened to headphone ports.
Shadow / Maddow	Maddow loves everything about the library except its silence, hates everything about camping but the noise.
Heather	Heather has perfected the art of chill, likely by bringing iced coffee into her hot yoga sessions.
Mayday	Mayday's daring stunts have earned her a few exquisite stints in splints. Absolutely hates rhyming.
Summer	Summer has not only stuck it to the man most of her life, she'll likely outlive him too.
Bijul	His powerful physique belies his pacifist side, but he sure writes a deadly passive-aggressive sticky note.
Fuzz Z	Bailed from his bank job after falling in love with a coworker and being unable to tell her.
B-Minus	His outfit and instrument outline a passion for the impractical. His other costume is a koala wielding a celesta.
McDougal	McDougal's happy to share every part of his Scottish heritage, save for the diseases borne by filthy bagpipes.
Axel (Small Apple)	Axel feels most at home in the city, preferring construction overhead to being knee-deep in suburbs.
Jackie	Jackie's knuckles crack like an irate bag of popcorn squirming over a fuming volcano. Oh, the things they've punched.
Jaeger	As a die-hard subscriber to the printed medium, Jaeger has lost count of his issues with the media.
Phoenix	A brilliant dairy scientist just looking to avoid the spotlight while the Greek Yogurt hysteria blows over.
Sage	Sage prefers using military time to coordinate her lifestyle, and has never been around for AM anyway.
BD Joe (Glitter Oasis)	BD Joe loves to see classic musicians live, prompting a scathing review of the year 2016 on his blog.

Underwood	Underwood's favorite horror films usually involve creepy children, so she just adores The Sound of Music.
Gena (Glitter Oasis)	Gena administers a spoiler warning to everyone in her cab, just in case she starts watching TV one day.