NOT ALL BEER IS CREATED EQUAL

Because ingredients matter...

Mass produced beer is cheap, quick and watery - and none of us with an acquired taste wants to drink that. The big boys may be able to produce top dollar Super Bowl commercials but they compromise with subpar ingredients.

Let's be honest, craft beer takes time, patience and money to produce a top quality brew. You're in the craft brewing space because you celebrate innovation, community and creativity. And yes, the hallmark of a successful release is people lined up around the block. For you, it's about more - creating something that has never been done before.

You wouldn't settle for barley or hops that wouldn't get the job done. So why not get the best? Here at Midwest Barrel Co. we believe our barrels
