

Spring Drip or Drown

An inside look into the fashion of fellow students

Anya Farwell

Section Editor

What should I do? What should I wear? As the weather dramatically warms up in Seattle, the hassle to reacquire yourself with the fashion that comes with the humid dry weather can be stressful. But with all the fast fashion trends changing at the beat of a drum, how can anyone keep track of what is cool, and "in style." Well, don't fret, you're not alone. Some fellow students have a unique eye for fashion and have come to the rescue this spring season.

What do you think constitutes "drip" for the spring season?

Emilia Garabay (11): "I don't know, it's really what you feel like wearing. I'm a naturally cold person, so usually I wear a cute little shirt and a sweater."

Medea Rich-Martinez (12): "Well it's Jort season, Jort season very hard... I like tons of accessories in the summer."

Emma Healstead (10): "Jeans, track pants, and when I start to get a little warmer, shorts. Controversial, I love Jorts."

What is one piece of clothing in the summer that you think isn't cool?

Emilia: "I'm not a big fan of floral prints, I think they're grandma."

Emma (10): "Socks with sandals, and those dad looking gardener hats."

Ashe Sandstrom (11): "I really don't like bucket hats."

Grace Abernathy (11): "I personally hate flip flops, they are horrid."

Teacher Nathan Stearns: "Crocs are an abomination."

How would you describe your style?

Matthias Jackels (11): "I would say it's very 70s/ 80s, pretty much whatever I thrift."

Medea: "I like very baggy 90's clothes, very much Hip Hop RnB."

Emma: "I don't know, I kinda dress like a dad."

Lelaina Carter (10): "Pretty good, very relaxed, baggy clothes."

What's more important to you: feeling comfortable or looking good?

Matthias: "Probably being comfortable, I think you can accomplish both no matter the situation."

Medea: "Comfortable... If I had a test, I would definitely go for like a sweatsuit or something, not jeans."

Emma: "Ummm, probably comfortable."

Lelaina: "Feeling comfortable. About that comfort life."

Ashe: "Looking good, I like to invest myself into fashion, over sweatpants."

What is your train of thought when picking out an outfit?

Matthias: "What the weather is, if it looks good."

Emilia: "I kinda just see things that I like, and match to it other things that match."

Medea: "I like to put on an outfit that I can dance in for the day, and then something that can make me feel a little jazzy and sassy for the day."

Emma: "It's basically based on what I have going on that day... today comfortable because I had an APWH test."

Lelaina: "Something easy to throw on... I never plan an outfit ahead of time."

Ashe: "How many old people can I make angry today."

Where do you most often go shopping for your clothes, like thrifting or a particular store?

Matthias: "I shop at Deseret Industries a lot, and just thrifting in general."

Medea: "Thrifting."

Emma: "I thrift the majority of my clothes."

Lelaina: "Usually either thrifting or Hot Topic because I like band t-shirts."

Ashe: "I gate keep so I can't tell you."

Do you branch out in your style when the weather starts to warm up?

Matthias: "Yes"

Emilia: "I like bright colors in the summer, bright colors in the winter are kinda lame."

Medea: "Yes. I am so bad at layering, so I'm really bad at dressing in the winter. But in the spring and summer I dress way better. Even when I'm outside of school."

Emma: "During the summer I feel like I wear a lot more bright colors."

Lelaina: "I change it up and get brighter colors, like t-shirts and tank tops."

Are you trying to fit an aesthetic with your clothes?

Emilia: "Somedays I really want to look like a spy from a James Bond movie...and other days I wear a shirt I found in the back of my closet."

Emma: "I'm not really trying to fit an aesthetic. It's very much like, if I like it, I want to wear it."

Lelaina: "I kinda just do whatever. I feel like style is always changing, so I feel like almost everything is in style, so you can't really go wrong."

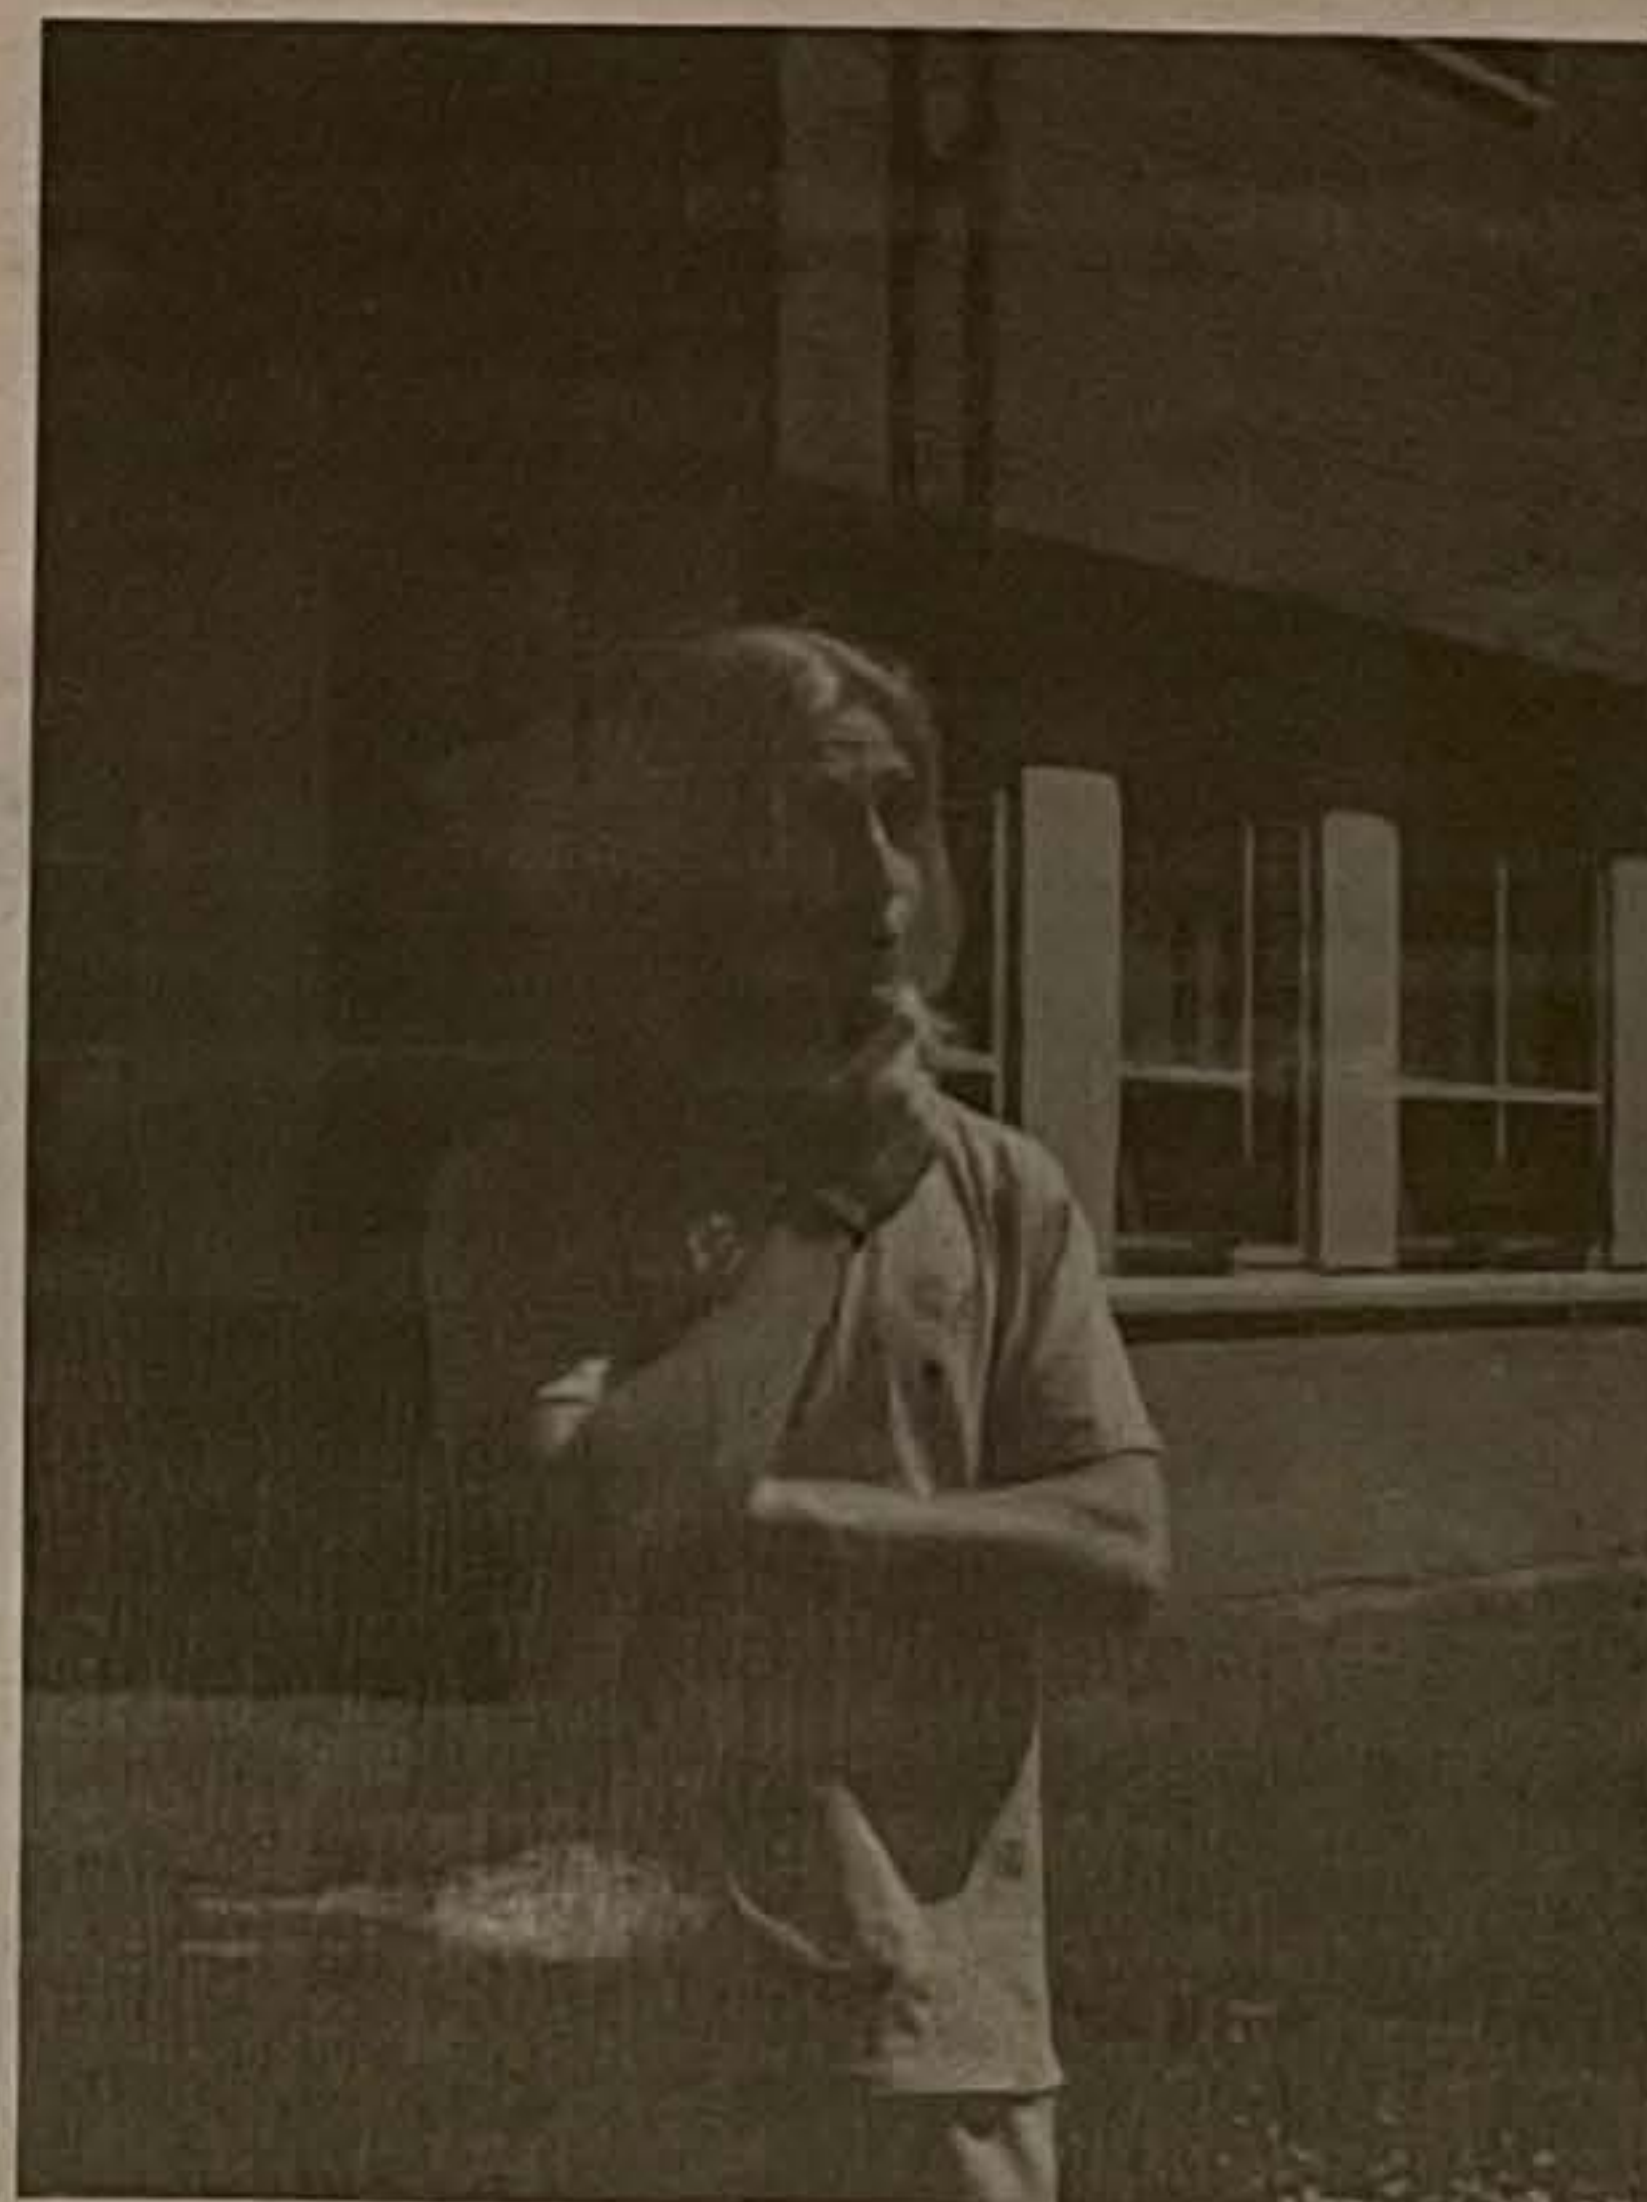

Ashe: "Glamour."

Grace Abernathy and Lelaina Carter showing off their cool outfits.

Ashe Sandstrom and Matthias Jackels posing for their pictures.

Photos By Anya Farwell

