RnR: A perfect casual chic hangout in Scottsdale - Phoenix Examiner (AZ) - June 22, 2010

June 22, 2010 | Phoenix Examiner (AZ) | Allison Hamila

Seemingly out of nowhere a few months ago an iron monstrosity was erected near Scottsdale Road and Goldwater. There is no way not to notice the double decker patio of RnR, a new restaurant and bar in Old Town Scottsdale. RnR was opened by Les and Diane Corieri who have made their mark on Scottsdale with favorites like Suede, Axis/Radius, Myst and Sandbar. RnR is one of the only places you can get the scene with a side of good food, they serve until 11pm. RnR is filling the void of a casual chic hangout with a neighborhood vibe in Old Town.

No matter what time of day you make your way to RnR, it is a great spot to enjoy a cocktail. The restaurant is beautiful inside and out. Even in the hot weather, the patio is the perfect place to people watch into the late night. You can even embrace your inner voyeur and take a spot on the second story patio and still be part of the action.

Their specialty cocktails and tons of wine options make it an amazing place to start an evening with a few friends or even a big group. The combination of the laid back and trendy atmosphere and its proximity in walking distance to other great Old Town spots make RnR a great stop on any night out in Old Town Scottsdale.
