Natural Stone: From Lackluster to Luxurious

By Jennifer Molk

NATURAL STONE IS AN AMAZING GIFT that keeps on giving… if it's maintained properly. The wear and tear on your beautiful marble, stone, and travertine surfaces can dull the pride of ownership you once felt when your fingers glided over your brand new granite countertops, or when you tiptoed over your luxurious travertine tiles for the first time.

You've chosen the best, most elegant products in the world for the surfaces in your home or business; now call the best in the business to keep them looking that way.

Marblelife of Tampa will come in and restore your worn floors and well-used countertops and showers to their natural beauty, giving them back the distinction they're due.

Chris Hudson has owned Marblelife of Tampa since 2005, and in that time, he and his crew have restored once-beautiful floors in the most elegant homes and hotels in the Tampa Bay area to their original glory.

From tile and grout to marble, travertine, granite or other natural stone that has lost its luster, the skilled and conscientious craftsmen of Marblelife of Tampa will search diligently for the best fix for your unique situation and bring the shine back into your surfaces.

"Whether it's marble, terrazzo, or polishing granite countertops," Chris says, "we take floors that have had a little bit of wear and we make them as new as possible with our processes." This includes everything from polishing, to sealing and restoring grout to looking brand new, to maintaining your surfaces with their tailor-made protective cleaning products.

Chris says his team's experience, focus on quality, individualized customer service and ability to discern and resolve every homeowner's precise needs set his company apart in his trade. Consequently, Marblelife's sales have grown year over year even through the recession.
