

DINO STROLLED ON BRIT BEACH

DINOSAUR footprints believed to be 125 million years old have been found on a British beach. The massive three-toed tracks are believed to have been made by a 7m (23ft) mantellisaurus. The prints were found in Yaverland on the Isle of Wight during work to boost sea defences. Dr Martin Munt, of the Dinosaur Isle Museum, said: "We cannot be totally sure but the three toes make it likely a mantellisaurus was here."

TOE CURLING: Footprints in sand

£40k card a Star lot

A LUKE Skywalker 1 Star Wars trading card is tipped to sell for £40,000. It is from the first series of Topps Star Wars cards and will be auctioned in Dallas, Texas, on November 9. A FARE-dodging ferret has been rescued from the London Underground. Animal Rescue Officer Mat Hawkins said: "She was either abandoned or had gone missing."

Rail lucky for ferret

AMAZING STORIES OF THE PEOPLE WHO MADE BRITAIN GREATER

CATCH UP ON itvX

SPECIAL THANKS

'THE YORKSHIRE EXORCIST' WHO SAYS

'Hundreds of Brits are possessed'

IN the run-up to the scariest season of the year we take a look at the creepy and downright weird in our series of spooky Halloween specials...

HUNDREDS of Brits are walking among us possessed by demons, according to an exorcist. Psychic medium Ian Lawman says: "I think there are people walking round having a possession or demonic entities attached to them. I think we are talking hundreds of people. "When you see someone having a grumpy day, we just presume it's somebody who has got something there with them. "You tend to find entities attach themselves to people who are quite vulnerable - who have depression, anxiety, drug or alcohol addiction, anything like that." Ian, right, who stars on TV series Help! My House Is Haunted and its celebrity version, is back on screens tonight helping a woman he believes has been possessed by a demonic entity. Michelle Boyer, 44, claims this being has affected her behaviour, pushed her down the stairs and left her covered in unexplained scratches and bruises. She also reveals she has woken up in bed with what she believes to be her husband Andy - only to discover it's this entity imitating him, and he has been downstairs on the sofa the whole time. Michelle says: "I feel drained all the time, anxious all the time, I'm having nightmares. "If Ian can't help, I do believe it's not going to end well." Viewers of The Yorkshire Exorcist will see Ian, assisted by paranormal investigator Jayne Harris, conduct an exorcism on Michelle. It involves driving out evil beings by reciting prayers, using a crucifix and holy water. Ian says:

EXCLUSIVE
■ by NADINE LINGE

"Michelle had an entity attachment with her for over 15 years. "She tried other ways of getting rid of this - I think there were five exorcisms and blessings in total - with no luck. "I was her last resort and she wrote me a letter begging me to help." Ian adds: "Michelle was of stable mind. She said she went for an afternoon walk with the dog and she just felt unwell when she came home. "She was in the wrong place at the wrong time. This attachment was passing through, looking for another soul, and she was the one." Michelle, from Skelmersdale, Lancs, passed medical tests and psychiatric evaluations before meeting with Ian. "When she opened the door, she had a massive reaction against me, indicating there was something within her," he says. "Then I did an interview to gauge how severe this entity was. She was itching, she was coughing, she was giving no eye contact - I realised then it was a possession of some sort. "We decided to perform the

HE BANISHES EVIL SPIRITS

POWERS: Ian. Right with Michelle and Andy. Below left, Michelle and Jayne

MOST EERIE EXORCISMS

SCUNTHORPE-born Ian Lawman first realised he was different when he started seeing ghosts at age four. By 16, he accepted he was talking to dead people. Training as an exorcist, some of his most memorable cases involved possessed children. He says: "There was one case of a young boy who was aged five. "He was possessed by something very demonic and the parents noticed changes in his personality and mannerisms. One morning he woke up and started speaking Latin. "Another case was a child in their early teenage years seeing what we call a shapeshifter, a demonic entity that can shapeshift into whatever you feel comfortable with. They lure you in initially and then hit you with your darkest, worst fears." Ian conducted exorcisms on both. He adds: "I've been very successful."

Demonic entities attach to vulnerable people exorcism and you could see very quickly Michelle reacted to the crucifix, the quotation from the Bible and the exorcism prayer. "I believe there was a demonic entity inside her but it hadn't got its full strength yet. "I think Michelle was only a matter of weeks, maybe a couple of months, away from a full-blown demonic possession." Ian is still in touch with Michelle and says her life - and her husband's - is vastly improved since the exorcism. "Demonic entities tend to thrive off energy and people," says Ian. "Andy suffered from severe arthritis and was on a crutch. He's now not on crutches and his arthritis has backed off a little bit. "Whether that is anything to do with the exorcism or whether it's the fact he's got his wife back and he feels happy, I can't answer that. "But all I know is he feels amazing as well." ●The Yorkshire Exorcist airs at 10pm tomorrow on Really and is also available to stream on discovery+