

Educational Background

To whom it may concern:

Education has always been a driving force in my life. It is a passion that began in my formative years and grew during my time as a student at South Fayette. The comprehensive curriculum offered by South Fayette not only equipped me with the skills necessary for the real world but also provided me with invaluable insights into various career paths. Through Independent Studies, I had the opportunity to explore the field of education, gaining hands-on experience in 2nd and 5th grade classrooms. These experiences solidified my desire to pursue a career in Early Childhood Education.

My journey continued at Duquesne University, where I was fortunate to have access to resources and classroom experiences, starting my sophomore year. Despite the challenges posed by the COVID-19 pandemic, I was able to immerse myself in a diverse array of educational settings, from daycares to regular education classrooms in both urban and suburban areas. These experiences broadened my understanding of the educational landscape in the Pittsburgh area and reinforced my commitment to making a meaningful difference in the lives of young learners.

As I reflect on my educational journey thus far, I am grateful for the foundation laid by South Fayette and the opportunities afforded to me at Duquesne University. Equipped with knowledge, experience, and an unwavering passion for education, I am eager to embark on the next chapter of my career, dedicated to inspiring and empowering the next generation of learners.
